

Lid Press Units

Our high quality lid press units are available in a variety of types and size to suit your container lids, and designed to automatically close pots, tubs and buckets.

They can be supplied as stand alone units, fixed to a work bench, incorporated into a filling machine or provided as part of a conveyor filling production line.

- Standard or bespoke design
- Automatically lids a wide variety of pots, tubs and buckets
- Easily integrated into existing production lines
- Available as snap-on lidding with local guarding or as part of a running conveyor
- Require compressed air supply
- Manufactured to the highest health and safety requirements
- Robust, durable, dependable performance
- Operator friendly
- Easy to clean and simple to maintain
- Full after sales support